Japan, Aichi Prefecture, Central Nagoya.

One day in July, just before the summer break, Yuuma Takise, an introvert student who was experiencing a solitary and gloomy high school life, encountered a strange creature named Belb.

He could float, slip through walls, and even make things appear out of thin air... Belb, who nonchalantly showed off these strange powers, asked Yuuma to search for a certain game cartridge.

Just what was on this game cartridge--?

Details

Yuuma Takise, the protagonist, was a regular boy in senior high school. However, due to his extreme shyness and poor communication skills he was disliked by his classmates.

His one and only hobby was to play video games. However, he didn't play them with others. Instead he would play them at home, or occasionally go down to the local arcade by himself.

However, he became involved with his classmate, Ayaka Kirisaki, as a result of his younger, more sociable sister coming to visit. A worn piece of paper he picked up during her visit would end up toying with all their fates...

- Visual novel.
